Welcome
home

Fort Lewis College is supremely nestled in a mountain paradise, and student housing on this campus in the sky is the beating heart of our vibrant and diverse community. As an added bonus, you'll be just a quick walk away from your classrooms and just a few steps from hiking and biking trails. Take advantage of this affordable living option to make sure you get the full Skyhawk experience. Unpack, settle in, and find your home away from home at The Fort.

"I love living in the residence halls because it allows for an easy way to make friends. The hall feels like one big family."

Housing Options

At FLC, we're all about building community beyond the classroom. From learning how to share space with other people to friendships that will last a lifetime, your college roommate experience will be nothing short of unforgettable.

■ The flexible housing application process allows for personalized roommate pairing based on shared interests, enhancing your college journey with supportive and meaningful connections. Roommate requests are granted when space is available, the request is mutual, and the requests are received simultaneously.

Adventure House

■ Located in the Bader-Snyder Complex next to the disc golf course, there's never a dull day at the Adventure House. Slacklines, frisbees, and hammocks abound in the quad, and you'll be sure to overhear someone strumming a guitar or excited conversations about epic rafting, kayaking, climbing, skiing, cycling, running, or backpacking adventures.

Sustainable living

■ Animas Hall, our eco-friendly residence hall, boasts LEED gold certification and sustainable design. Animas Hall has a multi-purpose classroom, a fully equipped community kitchen, a computer lab, and a large central lounge on the first floor. Each residential floor has lounges, quiet study rooms, and laundry rooms.

With sweeping vistas of sage-dusted mesas and the La Plata Mountains, west-side housing scores on the sunset view. These U-shaped buildings primarily offer the traditional residence hall setup of double- and triple-occupancy rooms with shared bathrooms on each floor. Play pool, join Hall Council, and study with friends in the computer lab or lounge.

Our campus apartments are popular options for upper-division and transfer students, with
